GINAN-E-SHARIF
OUR WONDERFUL TRADITION

EXTRACTS FROM MUBARAK FARMANS BY MAWLANA HAZAR IMAM

"Many times I have recommended to my spiritual children that they should remember Ginans, that they should understand the meaning of these Ginans and that they should carry these meanings in their hearts.

It is most important that my spiritual children from wherever they may come, should through the ages and from generation to generation, hold to this tradition which is so special, so unique and so important to my Jamat."

Karachi, December 16, 1964

"I feel that unless we are able to continue this wonderful tradition, which is a burden and a duty upon the Ismailia Association in particular, to teach the younger spiritual children their Ginans, I feel that we will lose some of our past which is most important to us and must be kept throughout our lives, and lives of the spiritual children who are yet to be born."

Dacca, October 17, 1960

"...I would also like the tradition and the meaning of the Ginans should be maintained, and when I hear a young spiritual daughter such as this young girl who recited a beautiful Ginan to our Jamat today, it makes me very happy and very proud."

Vancouver, November 14, 1978

"I was very happy to listen to my Jamat reciting our Ginans. I have said in the past (that) this is a Wonderful Tradition, and it is a tradition which we must not lose in the years ahead, and I hope that the younger spiritual children will continue to learn the Ginans that the Association gives you for learning at your Religious Night School."

Bombay, November 9, 1967

"I was very very happy to hear you recite the Ginan so beautifully. And I hope that in the years ahead each and every spiritual child will know his Ginan, and the most important Ginans, as well as the children who have sung for me today."

Dacca, January 28, 1970

EXPLANATION ON PRONUNCIATION

The following transliteration scheme, devised for this book, will be helpful to English readers who face difficulty in pronouncing some of the Gujrati sounds in the Ginans.

The Long 'aa' sound

The use of 'aa' at the beginning or the middle of a word is used to denote a long vowel sound. However, if the long 'aa' sound is at the end of the word, only a single 'a' is used.

| English example | Printed as | Gujrati example | Gujrati Letters |
|---|---|---|---|
| 'a' - in art, arm | 'aa' at the beginning of a word | - aap- aave | આ |
| 'a' - in bark, car | 'aa' in the middle of a word | - yaar- naam | ા |
| 'a' - in pita, mega | 'a' at the end of a word | - kya- sreva | ા |

The Cerebral sounds

| English example | Printed as | Gujrati example | Gujrati Letters |
|---|---|---|---|
| 't' - in tough | Regular 't' | - maati- naatak | ટ |
| - | Regular 'th' | - thagaaro- betha | ઠ |
| 'd' - in duck | Regular 'd' | - dagmag- vada | ડ |
| - | Regular 'dh' | - dhol- kaadhi | ઢ |
| - | 'n' with a tilde sign 'ñ' | - paañi- maañek | ઞ |

The Nasal sound

| English example | Printed as | Gujrati example | Gujrati Letters |
|---|---|---|---|
| 'n' - in bank, sing | 'n' into brackets (n) | - aa(n)kh- tu(n) | ( ં ) |

The Dental sounds

| English example | Printed as | Gujrati example | Gujrati Letters |
|---|---|---|---|
| - | Italicized 't' | - *t*amaari- baho*t* | ત |
| 'th' - in thumb | Italicized 'th' | - *th*aak- haa*th* | થ |
| - | Italicized 'd' | - *d*uniya- an*d*ar | દ |
| 'th' - in mother | Italicized 'dh' | - *dh*aram- su*dh* | ધ |
| 'n' - in number | Regular 'n' | - navroz- moman | ન |

*The Cerebral Liquid sound

| English example | Printed as | Gujrati example | Gujrati Letters |
|---|---|---|---|

* Rolling 'L'/'D', with some resemblance to 'R', sound. In many cases these letters may be pronounced simply as a regular 'L'/'D' sound. In some instances these have been indicated with an underline.

SOME EXCEPTIONS TO SPELLING

The following proper nouns have retained their contemporary English spelling:

Allah, Quran, Shah, Imam, Mawla, Saheb, Khudawand, Sami.

Also, proper names like:

Nizar, Fatma, Fazal.

And, the following words:

ginan, farman, bhai, virabhai.

The Use of 'ee' and 'oo'

To promote even better pronunciation, some 'i' sounds have been replaced by 'ee', and some 'u' sounds have been replaced by 'oo'.

GUJRATI SUFFIXES

Suffixes such as na, ne, su(n), maa(n), among others, are often appended to Gujrati words. These terminating appendages are not separated from the word by a space, rather they are written as part of the word.

Examples: jivna, uthine, satsu(n), dilmaa(n).

Exceptions : The suffix 'ji', in this work, is for the most part written separately unless it attaches to a proper name as in 'gurji'. The suffix 're' is also written separately except in the case 'jire'.

Examples: jaañe ji, malshe ji, aavo re.

A hyphen, '-', is used to aid and promote better pronunciation. It is used in several ways :

1. if a suffix is appended to a word ending in 'a', as in lodha-ni (not lodhaani) or pota-no (not potaano);

2. if a suffix begins with the same letter as the ending of the word it is appending, as in moman-na (not momanna) or bes-se (not besse);

3. if two suffixes append a word, as in Sahebji-ne or gurji-su(n);

4. to decrease confusion especially in larger words, as in uñiya-chaari.
